

Radio Integration Services for First Responders

Advances in communication technologies have impacted our lives in profound ways. Unfortunately, these advances have been slow in coming to many who need them the most: First Responders. While these vital workers may enjoy the benefits of smartphones, broadband Internet, and cloud data services at home, most have settled for far less at work. At Tango Tango, we are out to change that.

Tango Tango integrates existing two-way radio networks to the Internet, using innovative technology to augment and extend communications for First Responders. For a fraction of the cost of traditional radio systems, Tango Tango enhances your team's communications with encrypted push-to-talk voice, GPS location services, emergency alerting, recording, fire tones, and text/multimedia messaging, using almost any iOS, Android, or Windows device, over any wireless provider or WiFi network.

Tango Tango is carrier agnostic, has experience with every kind of radio system, and is device agnostic (iOS, Android, PC) to provide the most flexible interoperability available. We provide interoperability and radio integration as a service which allows us to be able to solve these problems for agencies at a very low cost while still providing exceptional customer service.

In short, our seamless radio integration service enables you to connect your radio system to your team's cell phones. This means you can talk over your radio from your phone, and you can talk over the phone from your radio. Importantly, teams using Tango Tango can interoperate, allowing different teams using different radio systems to communicate on a single channel, regardless of using different systems.

Powered by a secure, cloud-based infrastructure, our services require no administrative overhead or equipment purchase. We are a true turn-key "software as service" company staffed by former First Responders. We know what it is like to be in the field with poor communications, and we are here to ensure it never happens to your team again. Importantly, we understand how essential IT support is to your team's success, and we take pride in our 24/7/365 customer support department, led by retired First Responders who comprehend the importance of smoothly functioning communications.

www.tangotango.net

1.888.826.4607

Hello@tangotango.net

